The Strategic Alliance of Catholic Research Universities (SACRU), is an international network of eight leading Catholic universities from across the globe, dedicated to research and teaching excellence.

The Alliance is an innovative model of university cooperation inspired by the values of human solidarity and tolerance. SACRU is open to the academic world and society more broadly, encouraging multilateral cooperation in education, research and service to communities.

The main activity of the Alliance is focused on international multidisciplinary research through Working Groups addressing the great challenges of our time: including human vulnerability, Artificial Intelligence, our Common Home, social Justice and sustainable development.
